Looking Out For Number One Is Crazy

1. Looking out for number two builds relationships (Philippians 2:3).

2. Looking out for number two gives life meaning (Philippians 2:4).

Action point:
Put 10 pennies in your right front pocket (the " you" pocket) and 10 in your left front pocket (the "me" pocket). Every time you catch yourself focused on yourself, move one penny from the right (you) to the left pocket (me). Every time you focus on someone else, move a penny from the left pocket (me) to the right pocket (you). At the end of the day see what your focus has been. You will notice that doing this simple thing will make you more aware of other people. It will help you to "look not only to your own interests, but also to the interests of others."
